Atlanta equity investment firm promotes Senior Portfolio Manager Rick van Nostrand, CFA to Chief Investment Officer

Atlanta - Cornerstone Investment Partners, an employee-owned investment manager with roughly $3 billion in assets under advisement as of March 31, 2024 announced the promotion of Rick van Nostrand to Chief Investment Officer of the firm.

Rick van Nostrand, CFA

Joining Cornerstone in 2005, Mr. van Nostrand is the longest-tenured member of Cornerstone's investment team and will continue his role as Senior Portfolio Manager.

In response to the promotion, Mr. van Nostrand commented, "I appreciate the vote of confidence from my fellow Investment Team Members and Board of Managers recognizing my contributions to the Firm, the Investment Team, and most importantly our clients over the past nearly twenty years. Cornerstone exists to provide excellent investment results and superior client service, so my most important role remains that of Senior Portfolio Manager, which is central to both goals. We function as a flat meritocratic investment team, where each of us are dedicated to consistently executing the investment process across market environments, regardless of title. This additional title formalizes much of the role I have been playing over the years at Cornerstone, and I am humbled by the recognition from my peers."

Mr. van Nostrand joined Cornerstone in 2005 and had worked with the early principals of Cornerstone through their shared heritage at Invesco Capital Management. He also has a long history of serving in a leadership capacity of Cornerstone and presently serves on the firm's Board of Managers. He was previously a Portfolio Manager at EARNEST Partners and Invesco, and started his career as a consultant at McKinsey & Co. Mr. van Nostrand earned an MBA with a concentration in Finance from the Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania and a BS in Computer Science Engineering from Southern Methodist University. He is a CFA Charterholder, served on the Board of the CFA Society of Atlanta, and is a member of both the CFA Society of New York and CFA Society of Atlanta. He presently is a Board Member and the Chairperson of the Investment Committee of the Atlanta International School and is a Board Member of Second Helpings Atlanta. He calls Atlanta home with his wife and three daughters.

Fellow Senior Portfolio Manager and Cornerstone's Director of Research, Dean Morris, CFA stated, "I have worked with Rick for 16 years at Cornerstone and our history together goes back another ten years to our days at Invesco. His dedication to our clients has always been his primary focus. He is indefatigable, with the 24/7 focus on investments that has become required in this business. We operate our investment process as an intellectual meritocracy. Rick leads by example, by encouraging a spirit of teamwork and camaraderie, and by sheer force of intellect. As we contemplate and plan for the next decade of our business, his energy and skills as an investment leader will be critical to our success. As a fellow investment team member and partner, I look forward to continuing our long and productive association together to work on behalf of our clients."

Mr. van Nostrand succeeds John Campbell, CFA as CIO. Along with Mr. van Nostrand and Mr. Morris, Mr. Campbell had been an important senior leader of the firm and its investment team. Mr. Campbell's decades in the industry included positions as a Portfolio Manager at SouthTrust, at Invesco, and here at Cornerstone. Cornerstone thanks Mr. Campbell for his service to our clients and wishes him success in any future endeavor.

The Investment Team will continue to execute the Investment Process for Cornerstone's strategies under the timeless guidance of the firm's Investment Philosophy. This is the same investment process that has served Cornerstone clients since 2001 across various market environments.
